

KW: Hello More Than Never How are you guys doing?

MTN: We're good.

MTN: Asking KW- How are you?

KW: Doing Great and Such a great event You have going on today.

KW: This Question is for Andy: Talk a bit about New Age Connect.

AL- Yeah, so New Age Connect. A couple years ago, Michael Eddie and I were just chatting about trying to make a Booking Group, kind of by Artists for Artists to help Bands Network and Bands play shows that were favorable to them. You know, some Venues do pay to play and that's lame. And we didn't like that. And some shows, you know, you could sell. I think he said that they sold like 119 tickets at a place but they only got 10% of the ticket sales. And I mean, that's a bummer. So we just wanted to make an opportunity for fans to network and grow every show we book has at least one preferably to like out of town or out of state fans. Like today. We have Titans In Times there from Cleveland. Good dudes. And yeah, we kind of got derailed like everyone did last year. We had several shows lined up that all got canceled. So yeah.

KW: How excited are you that shows are slowly starting to come back?

MTN: Oh, very excited. I think I know for me personally. It was just depressing. You know, music makes the world better. That's why we love doing it. And it did allow us to finally finish our CD. Get that I guess that's right, some New Music Material, including a song called COVID. King. Yeah. quarantine for two weeks. What else to do besides Write some songs?

KW: Introduce members of More Than Never?

MTN: All right, So I'm Andy, singer, and I play bass. This is Chase. He's the guitarist, drum programmer and backup singer. And this is Ryan. He's our most recent member. He plays drums besides the new CD. So we're actually in the talks and trying to record some new singles. Because the CD came out last September. Two, at least one maybe two new singles and maybe a music video. At least the singles out by September. I don't know about the Music Videos yet.

KW: What shows and fest Do you have coming up?

MTN: We don't have a whole lot except Defeat The Hunger Fest In July Yeah. But in August, we're playing a benefit show. For Derek. There's a drummer from a local band named Derek, he and his family were in a car accident. And so we're doing a benefit show for them.

KW: What would be your dream artists?

MTN: Oh, my God, Ruben. I mean, Rick Rubin made like every album I grew up on. You know, Caleb does all the stuff for beartooth too. So the one is the Secretary is totally blanking on his name, but then the producer that's off the beaten work where there's a cool guy. He still could. Deftones and Oh yeah, loads of people. Yeah. Okay, I didn't know that. That's gonna really bother me. I'm gonna find that out.

KW: Glve an inspirational quote, to keep pushing through the times that we've had during the pandemic?

MTN: Man, you know, That you all love each other. Learn from the person. So I think this last year has really shown us what's actually important in life. At least it has for me, and I think it's just caring about people. We have a lyric in our new song that we're playing tonight, actually, for Simon's talks called the pursuit where it's a dream, or die dreaming. And it's kind of you know, not necessarily that we want to be super world famous because we just want to live a life that's worth living and worth doing.

KW: Where can fans find you? And where's your music?

MTN: Okay. Any streaming site has Spotify, iTunes. Even Napster? Yeah. Oh, yeah, I forgot. Yeah, then. Our website is morethanneverband.com And then you could find us predominantly on Facebook as far as Social Media goes, Yeah, we're on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram. It's more than never band on Facebook and Instagram, more than ever because there's not enough characters on Twitter.

KW: Thanks for taking the time to chat with mayhem Rockstar magazine.

MTN: You got it, man. Thank you. Appreciate it.
